

10 Signs of a Potentially Bad Client

1. The client who is always switching accountants.
2. The client who bad-mouths his previous accountant or other professional service providers.
3. The litigious client.
4. The client who complains about how much money he thinks accountants make.
5. The client with a bad reputation.
6. The client who refuses to listen to what you have to say.
7. The client who unreasonably complains about his bill.
8. The uncooperative client who does not provide the required information.
9. The hard-to-reach client.
10. The client who disagrees with everyone, including you.

These sample engagement letters, checklists, and practice and consent forms are for illustrative purposes only. We recommend you use these letters and forms only after you have consulted with your attorney. Since your practice may be different than those described in the sample letters and forms, we recommend that you modify them to suit your individual practice needs. Use of these sample letters and forms is not intended to constitute a binding contract, does not constitute legal advice, and does not satisfy your obligation to do thorough research. © Gilsbar Specialty Insurance Services, L.L.C. and Date.